I met ranjan online our meeting was planned by our family it was a arranged meeting .i vividly remember that hello text that I got from him on feb 21st 2023 .from that day we started to communicate I don't know why but I felt a connection with him instantly cause there were so many common interest and habits .we also share a same heroscope same food interest same lucky number and so many things and I felt like okay he is the one .his caring nature his innocence the way he used to listen me that melted my heart .we used to be on video chat for an hours I don't even remember what stupid talks we used to had but bottom of my heart knew that he is the one .then times passed by ranjan came to Nepal on 1st june 2023 we had our first met I was so nervous we met at Sauraha Chitwan . It's one of the famous tourism spot then we meet several time he used to pick me up from work daily we used to had so much fun time those meet were really precious for both of us .after our meet we felt much strong connection the bond became much stronger and we decided to be with eachother our family were more happy listening this .they all meet up and mutually decided a date 13th june 2022 the date of our engagement .we got engaged on that day ranjan was on vacation just for 19 days time was too short and there was so much to do the pressure of managing everything in a short time but we did we did court marriage on 16th june 2023 with both of our parents by our sides I still remember how happy they were for us .

Ranjan had very limited time cause he had to return back for the work so we couldn't spend that long time together . there were just few days remaining for him in Nepal but we decided to make it memorable .we went on long rides those street foods those romantic places we clicked so many pictures and had so much fun… weather was so hot we both were really very sweaty but still were very shirt which he wore when he visited my home for the first time .I still remember how emotional we both were at the airports .but we promised to see eachother very soon . Ranjan is planning to visit Nepal again on 21st nov 2023 last time we didn't got to visit the places so this time we have decided to visit as much as many places we can and spend quality time together

I am currently living with my parents .i was working in a hospital as a nurse when I meet ranjan and I decided to continue my work after marriage too. In my off duty I do visit my father and mother in laws they shower me with love and I am very blessed to have them in my life. I also have my job and living with my parents I am not that desperate for financial support despite the job I got ranjan still send me some money on the Sunrise limited bank .We so wanted to create a joint account but due to short duration of time and all the other works piled up we weren't able to do so . Ranjan will be visiting nepal again on November 31st 2023 that is when we are planning to open the a nepali joint account but coming further we are planning to open another joint account as soon as I got to Australia

We haven't lived together for a long period of time to comment on our household matter but in the time we lived together we shared the common household duties ,he used to cook I used to wash the dishes and clean the mess he used to put clothes on washing machine I used to dry them we did all the work together

Our relationship that we develop as a husband and wife is genuine and continuing ,we share common interest and goals we want to build a great future together with eachother by the sides .at the highest high and the lowest low we promised to stick to eachother .both of us have been very supportive to eachother in every step of our life .ranjan guides me makes me heard respect me and loves me to the fullest and so do I . our relationship is the most genuine and most purest ever .we spend most of our spare time in video calls sharing each and every minute details .

I conclude the statement by highlighting the fact that our relationship which we developed and have been developing as a husband and wife is the most purest and genuine and selfless .Evey girl have a dream of having a perfect lifepartner and I am more than thankful for my family that they help me reach out to ranjan and I am more than grateful to call him my husband .I Really cant wait to start our new journey in Australia together really cant wait to explore the world together and learn and grow together. Manifesting all of these to be happening soon.
